“Doris was such a force of nature. I was privileged to know her through my parents, Charlie and Estelle Koenig. My dad and Bob were classmates since first grade, and Doris credits my father for getting she and Bob together. The story goes that my father came home from the service, and suggested that Bob and he go out on a double date. Bob asked out Doris for the first that evening, and the rest is history.

Although they lost touch when my parents moved away, they reconnected 25 years later, and they were fast friends until the end. I've had the opportunity to enjoy Doris and Bob's hospitality both at Gilgo Beach and in St. Thomas, and Doris was most definitely the "hostess with the most-ess." I remember coming to stay at Bob's mother's Gilgo beach house with my 3 kids, only to find the frig completely stocked with anything you could want. It was wonderful. And to go sailing with her was to be treated to a wonderful gourmet lunch.

I always had a special connection to Doris and we eventually found out why. She and I shared a birthday - February 8 - exactly 30 years apart. We joked that were twins. She always found a "to-the-person-who-shares-my-birthday" card to send to me. I could never figure out how she did that. But that was one of many thoughtful things she did.

She was a women of strong beliefs and opinions and I respected that, even if I didn't always agree with her. And that was ok with us both.

The world has been a better place because of her. I'm proud to have known her and will never forget her.
