“ Terri (Ford) Allen posted a condolence Words cannot express how much joy my “Aunt Dotti” added to my life. She was the one who taught me how to put on false lashes, do my nails, apply makeup and everything glamorous! She taught me about fashion and design. Aunt Dottie also taught me to appreciate traveling first class whenever you go on vacations. I will always cherish our relationship and the times we spent together when I was growing up. Thank you my sweet Aunt Dottie and all you were to me and so many.

“ Garlinda McDaniels posted a condolence There are no mere words to fully describe Cousin Dotti. I knew her from the time that I was six years old when she started sending me postcards from her many and often trips from around the world. There were times when the cards were also accompanied with souvenirs and travel gifts. This began my fascination with world travel, geography, and cultures. When I reached nine years I was able to travel to our small town library and find books on the places where she'd traveled. I could see the pictures, but would wonder about the smells, tastes, and feel of those many places. I kept all of these cards in my travel postcard album and they were many. On her 95th birthday I decided to present her with an appreciation book containing messages of my love and appreciation, but also copies of my first visit to her home and photocopies of some of those postcards ranging in age from my childhood through young adult.

I can never forget the generosity, kindness, and love that I always felt from Cousin Dotti. I talk about her often to my friends and people I meet, so that they can know the impact that one person can make on another's life.

A seed was sown by her in me for curiosity and wonder re travel. It has inspired me and now my son to travel to so many places internationally. Your memory will never be forgotten, but lives on in us. Rest in Peace, Cousin Dotti, Rest in Peace.

“ Terry Woods posted a condolence Ronnie and Craig, I considered your parents to be my parents along with the Ashbys. Its has always been my thought that we were blessed to have grown up in our neighborhood. There was so much love and caring that dose not exist today.I am deeply sadden by Mrs.B's passing and would like to express my condolences to the two of you. I know and you should know that she was loved dearly.
