“ angelo moroneso posted a condolence The loss of a loved one is so hard to face, you just want to hide, go somewhere and escape! But death is something we all must go through. I know it's hard when it's someone you loved and knew. Just know now, she is in a better place, no more hurt or pain shall she face. It seems unfair, and yes, this is true, but she is in Heaven now watching over me and you! God has called her home to rest!! And she's being well taken care of Because God knows best!

“ Jeanette Kerzner-Green posted a condolence My deepest sympathy in the loss of your beautiful angel. Although we grieve here on earth for Erica, Jesus has escorted her to her heavenly home where there is no more pain, tears or suffering. I pray you find peace in knowing that even though her time here was for a season, Erica's salvation brought her an eternity with her Creator. I look forward to meeting her there and spending my eternity with this beautiful, young woman. We are all here for such a short time but as I read the things said about Erica on her Face Book page, she made every day count. I pray we all take a page from Erica.

“ Darnisha A. Lewis posted a condolence Some of my fondest childhood memories were spent with Erica. I don't even remember how we became friends, but I remember the fun we had. I will cherish those moments, as they helped mold me into the person I am today. On this journey called "life," it's not the physical things you acquire but rather the intangibles that make the experience worthwhile and most memorable: the smiles you exchange, the laughs you share and the happiness felt through each of these moments. I don't have any of the Spice Girl stickers we exchanged, nor the videos of our "mini-performances," but all the memories are stored in my heart and play out vividly in my mind. To Erica, I'm glad we re-connected on Instagram. You are a beautiful soul and I will always remember you as such. To the Cesarano family, her legacy lives on with all of you. Her spirit is with you & she lives forever in your hearts. We are blessed to have known such a beautiful, funny, witty and loving girl.
