“ Craig Clausen posted a condolence I had the privilege to know Gary through our friendship with mutual couples (the Kerwins). Going back many years, Gary, Chris Kerwin and I had any opportunity to team up for a round of golf at Woodstock GC/VT. Before the round Gary mentioned his love for the game but as most golfers do, talked about how perplexing the game can be. As we approached the second hole, after a nice drive Gary had a long second shot to the green. He took out his three wood and launched one of the sweetest shots I have ever seen, landing the ball a few inches from the pin. After a “tap in birdie”, I complimented him on the shot and exclaimed that his talents were probably better than he gave himself credit for. The look of satisfaction on his face was memorable. As all golfers know, it only takes one magical shot to reaffirm why we play this crazy game. Gary had that moment on the “second hole” many decades ago and I was pleased to be in his company, to experience it with him. May He, “Rest In Peace”.....
