“ I remember Iraida’s smile and kind heart. She had a way about her that was classic and demure. A woman who put family first and held on to exemplary morals and faith. I remember sitting at her kitchen counter on several occasions as a young girl sharing in a meal she prepared and listening to the radio. She had such a quiet strength that was mystifying and admirable.

May her spirit live on in all the hearts that she has touched as she rests in peace with eternal angel wings.

She will never be forgotten as she is held in high esteem by us all.

With love,
