“ I am still pondering what to say about our story, our journey which started as friends, to having children together. We were children ourselves back then, our friendship started with the exchange of “comic books” we became boyfriend and girlfriend/ lovers and eventually parents. Through it all our friendship prevailed. We confided almost everything we loved, we laughed we dressed alike, we quarreled, we had fall outs but never, never did our friendship ever waiver or end. I was fortunate to be among the last persons to visit talk to and spend time with Bill during his last moments with us. Unfortunately I couldn't be at his going home services because I contracted Covid. Perhaps he wanted it that way. We had already said our goodbyes the Sunday before he left us. Our journey together is a cherished one I will forever hold close to my heart. I will truly miss you dearest one.

To my children, I grieve with you. To his siblings and all other relatives my thoughts are with you. To all his friends, my condolences.

Sleep well dearest one
Lynda.

*Dear Vanessa & Melissa and family,
I am so sorry to hear of your loss....know that your father is at peace and no longer in pain and suffering...there are no words that can truly comfort you. In time your pain will become less and less & your father will forever live in your hearts.*
